Hey all, My Motorola V600 should be arriving on Tuesday (17 days after ordering... thanks Orange) and so I've been researching into accessories etc... I found Motorola Phone Tools on www.mobilefun.co.uk along with the coloured covers for the phone which are tempting me by just looking so pretty.... anyway... I seem to remember reading somewhere that MPT is included with the V600 for a 30 day trial. Did I make this up? Should I order the full copy (£26.95 with cable on this site - good price?) now or can I afford to wait a little?

Yeah I know, but they don't accept my card so I have to call in a favour and now isn't exactly the best time for that. Does a 30-day trial come with the phone?

now isn't exactly the best time for that. I ordered with a barclaycard mastercard after 1500hrs and the item arrived the next day standard post. I wouldn't know if it comes with a trial, I could see no reason on earth why the package would not be suitable.

the package would not be suitable. I'm not saying it would be unsuitable - but this month has been heavy on the credit card I would be using and so, if I can leave it a couple more weeks without too much hassle, that'd be great..

the next day standard post. I didn't know Barclaycard had a MasterCard offering. Well you do now, I have had mine for years.... I use the Visa card abroad only and the m/c over here.

Well you do now, I have had mine for years.... You're quite right, yes. Perhaps it's just that the Student Barclaycard only comes in a Visa form. I use the Visa card abroad only and the m/c over here. How come? For some strange reason, in Europe Visa is the favoured card to be accepted, in the US it is Mastercard.

Does a 30-day trial come with the phone? My V600 upgrade that came from Orange didn't come with a data cable, software CD, or anything like that. Just the charger, battery and bluetooth headset. HTH, T.

HTH, T. Thanks, that's exactly what I wanted to know! I've found MPT on www.motclub.com, guessing it's a free trial, or at least a shareware version... but I don't speak Spanish ;-). Can sort of read it but meh. Should tide me over for a week or so anyway! Thanks again,

I think motclub is a free trial. Thing is, I'm also reluctant to buy what I've found on the net because it comes with a data cable and I'm wondering how much of the price is the cable itself. I already have a bluetooth USB dongle so I wouldn't need the cable...

Thanks again, If you're talking about the version of MPT that's available here... <http://www.motclub.com/html/programs.htm#mpt> ...then it's the full version, not a trial. You should download both the 1.23c original English file and the 2.16 update file. Install 1.23c *But DO NOT* run it (it will ask if you want to at the end of the install) finish the install with out running MPT and reboot your PC. Now run the 2.16 update. Reboot again and provided your phone has already been paired with your PC (I'm assuming you'll be using bluetooth), when you run MPT for the first time it will detect your phone and away you go.
