Well OK , ??? we can incorporate the hand in the logo but have a look. I Left the names and numbers outside the cube because I thought they might be too small in this picture. At first glance it looks great, however, there are a boatload of colors involved in the hand. This is OK for computers and online stuff but shirts and banners are usually better if they are simpler. I also did a logo with three colors and that looks reasonable. Finally I did one with two colors, which is the norm for t-shirts. but that means the t-shirt is the background color so it looks a bit bland. We can get a lot of colors, but just be aware the costs goes up anytime you add another color. ??? Have a look and maybe I'm missing something. Steve
